VSBA Webinar- The Data Made Me Do It
August 12, 2015

Join us for a webinar on August 12th on data. Data, used properly by school boards, takes the uncertainty out of making decisions that can lead to better student outcomes in your district. But how do you know you have the right data to carry out your governance role? In this interactive webinar, Patte Barth of NSBA's Center for Public Education will show you a data decision making process that gives you data questions to guide you as you establish measurable goals, align district resources to those goals, define your policies to meet them, and monitoring your progress. She will also give you tips for using data to engage the community's support for your improvement plans.
