We are at war! Not for the lust of conquest and pillage, nor for the glory of loosing death and destruction on women and children, and the aged. Neither are we obsessed with the unholy pleasure of laying waste to great cities.

We are fighting for survival as a free and independent people, and for perpetuation of the inherent privileges and liberty guaranteed by our Bill of Rights, which the evil forces of aggression would supplant with enslavement and their "new order".

The free press has ever been the champion and guardian of the freedom and institutions of our democratic way of life. We shall serve our country as best we can in the present crisis—the gravest hour of peril in our national history. Barbed words may nettle our adversaries in this conflict, but words alone will win no battles. This is total war and we are all in it. Make no

Let's all do our share to break the aggressors and crush forever their savage impulses which has wreaked so much suffering on humanity in this peace-loving world. We cannot all bear arms in defense of our country and our ideals, but we can do our part in this great war effort. Guns, ships, tanks and planes are needed to accomplish the difficult task that lies ahead, and they are interpreted in terms of Thrift Stamps and Defense Bonds. Our strength lies in our great resources, and the conclusion of this terrible halocaust will be determined by the speed and cooperative effort with which we direct them to the avowed purpose.

Our soldiers and sailors who are fighting in this war carry into battle a traditional freedom. They are not the unthinkable, "helling" subjects of a dictator. They are not slaves, living and dying at the whim of a master. They have been reared in the freest
